

Commission on Terror: Terrorism during the Arab Spring

I. Background of Topic

This year your topic is Terrorism during Arab Spring. An Arab Spring is basically a sequence of protest and demonstrations that range in location from the Middle East to North Africa. These protests are normally reported to be peaceful but have had some implications in the past. This Arab Spring is also referred to as the "Arab Spring and winter", Arab Spring and winter", or the "Arab Uprisings". Most people deem this protest to only those of Arab decent, but this is not true. This event is open to anyone with the same views and opinions. These protest we started on December 18th, 2010 in Tunisia. This was sparked by Mohamed Bouazizi's protest of police corruption and ill treatment. With the effectiveness of this protest, further protest and unsettlement began by the Tunisian's "Burning Man" striking Algeria, Jordan, Egypt, and Yemen. This has also caused protests of similar unrest outside the region. Along with these protest came the unrest with the people who disagree with them. This Arab Spring has created optimism in giving a way to fear of the Islamic rise in power. Some say that is protest was part of the President Bush's agenda. Terrorist groups have been creating problems for the protest, claiming its intentions aren't true. Along with that they are harassing and threatening leaders in an attempt to scare them away.

II. UN Involvement

The United Nations has done multiple things in an attempt to gain some control over this issue. They have met with the Naif University to discuss possible solutions that will resolve this problem calmly and diplomatically. Also, with the United Nations Global Counter-Terrorism Strategy they have made a big impact on the issue at hand. The Special Committee has as well taken this issue into hand during this period of time.

III. Possible Solutions

Bring Afghanis On-Line –Part of the problem with Afghanistan is that the you are then in these refugee camps. So by providing computers and more advance education we will have a smarter generation that wont make the same mistakes as there parents and grandparents
